Peter Pan (Chapter1)

The Darling family lived in London. Mr Darling was a strict and serious man, but he loved his children very much. His wife was loving and sweet. There were three Darling children. Wendy was the oldest, then there was John, and of all, there was Michael. The Darlings were not rich, but they wanted a nanny for their children. Luckily, they found Nana. Nana was perfect in every way. She loved the children and looked after them carefully. However, people stopped to stare when they saw the three children with their nanny. You see, Nana was a large yellow dog that the Darlings met in the park. Mr Darling worried that his neighbours might think she was strange, but Nana was the best nanny in London. She kept the children safe and she made them very happy. In fact the Darling family was the happiest family in London until Peter Pan came.

The Darling children often dreamed of the magical land called the Neverland. They saw the strange land with its lagoons, caves and forests. The Neverland was different for each of the children. John lived in a boat turned upside down on the sand. Michael lived in a wigwam, while Wendy lived in a house of leaves sewn together. They all dreamed of Peter, however, especially Wendy. She knew that Peter often came to the children's room at night while they are asleep. When she told her mother about this, Mrs Darling did not believe her.

“No one can get into the house without knocking, dear,” said Mrs Darling. “I think Peter comes in through the window,” said Wendy. “But my love, the window is three floors up,” smiled Mrs Darling. “Yes,” said Wendy, “but Peter can fly.” Mrs Darling was sure that Peter was just a dream, but the next night proved that Wendy had not been dreaming and that Peter was real.

Peter Pan (Chapter 2) The Shadow

That night was Nana`s night off and she went out. So, Mrs Darling bathed the children and put them to bed instead. She sang to them until they fell asleep. She kissed them all and sat by the fire to sew a shirt for Michael. The room was very warm and soon Mrs Darling fell asleep in her chair.

She dreamed that a strange boy flew out of the Neverland. Then, she Wendy, Michael and John. They were in that magical place, the Neverland. As she slept, the window blew open and a boy flew through it. There was a small light with him and it flew quickly about the room. The light woke Mrs Darling up and when she saw him, she screamed. Just then, Nana ran into the room. She was back from her night off and she heard Mrs Darling cry out.

Nana ran towards Peter and he jumped up to fly out of the window. As he tried to escape, she snapped at him and he pulled off his shadow.

Peter flew off into the night sky, but his shadow was in Nana`s mouth. It looked like a piece of black cloth. Carefully, Mrs Darling took the shadow from Nana`s mouth. She didn`t know what to do with it. She didn`t want to show it to Mr Darling. He might be angry with Nana. She thought about hanging it out of the window for Peter. He might come to get it later. But Mrs Darling didn`t do that, because it looked like a dirty rag, and she was worried what the neighbours might think. She hid the shadow in a drawer in the bedroom so it would be safe.

Peter Pan (Chapter 3) Peter meets Wendy

The next week, Mr and Mrs Darling planned to go out one night with their friends. Everyone was unhappy. The children didn`t want to go to bed. When Nana ran across the room, she went past Mr Darling. She touched his legs by accident and left hair on his best trousers. Mr Darling was angry with Nana and he tied her up in the garden to sleep.

As soon as Mr and Mrs Darling left, Peter flew through the window into the children`s room. The little light was with him again. When it stopped flying round the room, you could see that it was not a light. It was a tiny fairy and her name was Tinker Bell. She was very pretty and her voice was like tiny bells. Peter and Tinker Bell started to search everywhere in the children`s room for the shadow. At last, they found it in a drawer, and Peter tried to stick it on again with some soap.

It didn't work, of course, and Peter started to cry. Wendy woke up and saw Peter crying. She was very surprised. "Why are you crying?" she asked. Peter stopped crying and decided to talk. This girl looked nice. "What's your name?" he asked. "Wendy Darling," she replied. "What's your name?" "Peter Pan." "Why are you crying?" Wendy asked again. "I can't get my shadow to stick on," said Peter. "And anyway, I wasn't crying!" Wendy knew what to do. "I'll sew your shadow back on for you," she said.

She took a needle and thread from Mrs Darling's sewing box and sewed Peter's shadow to his feet. "There!" Peter was very happy and he danced around the room. "Oh! How clever I am!" he said as he continued to dance. "And you did a little, too."

So, Wendy met Peter Pan all because Nana was in the garden.

Peter Pan (Chapter 4) The children can fly.

Wendy wanted to know more about this interesting boy.

“How old are you?” asked Wendy.

“I don` t know,” said Peter. “But I am quite young. I ran away the day I was born. I didn` t want to grow up, you see.”

Wendy was very surprised.

“But where did you go?” asked Wendy.

“I went to live with the fairies for a long time,” said Peter.

Wendy asked lots of questions about fairies and Peter told her about the beginning of the fairies.

“Fairies come from babies` laughs,” he told her. “But children don` t believe in fairies any more. They know too much.”

He looked for Tinker Bell, and she flew to him. When Wendy saw the fairy, she was amazed. She wanted to talk to Tinker Bell, but Tinker Bell didn` t like Wendy. She didn` t want to be friends. She flew into the bathroom.

“So, where do you live now?” asked Wendy.

“I live in the Neverland with the Lost Boys,” said Peter. “They are boys who were lost when they were babies and their parents never found them, so they don` t have mothers.”

“Oh, the poor boys!” cried Wendy.

“Will you fly to the Neverland with me and be a mother to the Lost Boys?” asked Peter.

“I can` t!” said Wendy. “I can` t fly!”

“I` ll teach you,” said Peter.

“Will you teach John and Michael, too?” asked Wendy.

Wendy woke her brothers, and they jumped out of bed.

“All right,” said Peter. “Just think lovely thoughts and they will lift you up in the air.”

Peter blew fairy dust on them and they began to fly around the room. Up and down they went, and round and round.

“This is such fun!” cried the children. “Let` s go outside!”

Peter took Wendy` s hand, and the four children flew out of the window and in to the night sky.

When Mr and Mrs Darling came home, their three beautiful children were gone.
